We are sending this month's edition of UPROAR a few days early so that we can remind you of two exciting events that are hopefully already part of your weekend plans.

The fun will kick off on Saturday, April 29, from 1 to 5 p.m. at Princeton TruckFest 2017 on Prospect Avenue. There will be 16 food trucks at this popular annual event. There is no admission fee to attend, but proceeds from food truck sales will go to Meals on Wheels and Send Hunger Packing.

On Sunday, April 30, from 1 to 6 p.m. the excitement will continue with Communiversity. This annual festival of arts, food and community has something to interest everyone. If you can't bike or walk to the event, you can park for free in the University's West Garage (near Princeton Station) or North Garage (entrance off Prospect Avenue, near Olden Street).

The forecast for the weekend looks spectacular, so we hope you will take advantage of this great springtime weather and spend some time outside enjoying the company of your neighbors and supporting community organizations. We look forward to seeing you!

Kristin Appelget
Erin Metro
Office of Community and Regional Affairs

Community
The Princeton University Farmers' Market returns to Firestone Plaza. The market features Jersey Fresh produce, locally-made breads, nut butters, organic sandwiches and salads, honey, cold pressed juices, gluten-free baked goods and cooking demonstrations. Wednesdays; through May 10; 11 am-3 pm; Firestone Library/Chapel Plaza.

Princeton University students and early career researchers will share their work from the natural sciences, social sciences, engineering, humanities and more.

Follow Us On Facebook
Lectures
Members of Indian members of Parliament partake in a panel discussion titled A New Year in Indian Politics? Tuesday, May 2; 4:30 pm; Robertson Hall, Bowl 016.

Vanderbilt University's Cecilia Mo will presents "When Do the Advantaged See the Disadvantages of Others? A Quasi-Experimental Study of National Service." Thursday, May 4; 4:30 pm; Julis Romo Rabinowitz Building, Room 399.

Charles Kane of the University of Pennsylvania delivers the Department of Physics 42nd annual Donald R. Hamilton Lecture. The lecture is titled Topological Phases of Matter. Thursday, May 4; 8 pm; McDonnell Hall, A-02 Auditorium.

Author Salman Rushdie delivers a public lecture titled Public Events, Private Lives - Literature and Politics in the Modern World. Wednesday, May 10; 6 pm; McCosh Hall, Room 50.

A panel discusses Democracy and Human Values: Democracy's Global Crisis. Thursday, May 11; 4:30 pm; Architecture Building, Betts Auditorium.

Readings
Selected students from spring courses in Creative Writing will read from their work in fiction, poetry, screenwriting and literary translation. Wednesday, May 3; 5 pm; Chancellor Green Rotunda.

Seniors in the Program in Creative Writing read written work from under mentorship of professional writers on the faculty. Students will read screenplays, poems, or translations on May 8, and novels and short stories on May 10. May 8 & 10; 4:30 pm; Prospect House.

Film
Student readings in Chancellor Green on May 3.
A presentation of work by students in spring film/video courses including "How to Make a Film," "Documentary Filmmaking," and "Intermediate Video and Film Production." Thursday, May 18; 3-6 pm and 7:30-9:30 pm; 185 Nassau Street, James M. Stewart '32 Theater.

Theater

Students in the Program in Music Theater present Spring On Fire: A Guatemalan Story. A workshop presentation of a new play written by Princeton senior Edwin Rosales follows a Maya family living in the highlands of Guatemala, the soldiers who occupy their village, and the spirits that guide and haunt them all during the most violent moment from the civil war. Audience talkbacks follow the May 3 performance. May 3-5; 8 pm; 185 Nassau Street, Marie and Edward '53 Acting Studio.

Music

Students perform a concert of songs with music and lyrics written over the past semester as part of the course How to Write a Song co-taught by Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Paul Muldoon and Grammy Award-winning composer Steve Mackey. Tuesday, May 2; 4:30 pm; Frist Campus Center, Frist Theater.

PLOrk: the Princeton Laptop Orchestra presents a Tenth Anniversary Show. Wednesday, May 3; 8 pm; Fine Hall, Taplin Auditorium.

The Muslim Life Program hosts Rumi's Tavern featuring poetry, stories, songs, and hymns. Thursday, May 4; 7-9 pm; Frist Campus Center, Cafe Vivian.

Princeton University Ballet takes the stage with London-based ensemble Penguin Cafe to present Within the Quota, a pantomime-ballet from 1923. Tickets required. Thursday, May 4; 7:30 pm; Alexander Hall, Richardson Auditorium.

Princeton University Sinfonia presents its final performance of the academic year. Wednesday, May 8; 7:30 pm; Alexander Hall, Richardson Auditorium.

Jazz at Princeton University presents the world premiere of Billy Child's Rejoice. Tickets required. Saturday, May 13; 8 pm; Alexander Hall, Richardson Auditorium.
The Berlin Painter and His World: Athenian Vase Painting in the Early Fifth Century B.C. The first major exhibition devoted to one of the most admired and influential artists of the ancient world, working at a time of cultural flourishing that also saw the rise of the world's first democracy.

The Berlin Painter was the name given by Sir John Davidson Beazley (1885-1970) to an otherwise anonymous Athenian vase-painter whose hand he recognized on a splendid amphora in Berlin. Beazley went on to identify nearly three hundred complete and fragmentary vases in public and private collections around the world. Through June 11.

Revealing Pictures: Photographs from the Christopher E. Olofson Collection. Through July 2.

Special Events
Curator and scholar Mitra Abbaspour delivers the 2017 Friends Annual Mary Pitcairn Keating Lecture. A reception in the museum follows. Thursday, May 4; 5:30 pm; McCosh Hall, Room 10.

Museum docents lead tours of The Berlin Painter and His World. May 7 & 21; 3 pm; Art Museum.

Art for Families
The Art Museum hosts its spring Family Day, a fun-filled day of exploration and creativity for children of all ages, with art projects, games, scavenger hunts, and a special performance by the Princeton Girlchoir Ensemble. Saturday, May 13; 10:30 am-4 pm; Art Museum.

Other Exhibitions
Students in the Program in Visual Arts display their work. Dates vary; Lucas Gallery at 185 Nassau Street, Monday-Friday, 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

The Black South and Civil Rights Workers in the 1960s consists of photographs by Julius Lester when he was a leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Robertson Hall, Bernstein Gallery, Through May 18.

Science
Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory offers free public tours led by an engineer or physicist on the first and third Friday of most months at 10 a.m., at 100 Stellarator Road, Princeton, New Jersey. This month's tours are May 5 and 19. You must pre-register at to attend; click here to register.
Visitors with a plasma ball and other plasma demonstrations in PPPL’s Science Education Laboratory.

Images
Art

Science
Elle Starkman/PPPL Office of Communications